

Story

ACT I:

- Begins in the mine of a mining village
- Aurora is told to mine and she hates it
- She runs off to an old abandoned cavern
- Aurora enters the mine/cavern and discovers "Allspark"
- Magic empowers her to mine and craft the best of weapons tools and armor

ACT II

- She takes the power back to the tribe and they reject the new ways
- Elder shames her and casts her out
- She runs away and finds the enlightened village and discovers that they knew about this power all along.
- They can mine with many different techniques even better than her.
- She learns from them as they mine side by side.
- The Mentor takes her under his wing and allows her to grow more than she could ever dream
- The Mentor sees her potential and encourages her to go back to her tribe and spread the magic. She says it's impossible and he responds with "Impossible is just an opinion not a declaration"
- She returns to her tribe to share the power with them. They are not into it, she gets upset
- She tries to push and them in a more forceful and violent manner.

CLIMAX: Mythic Tools break

- She is left alone

ACT III

- Someone young from the tribe who was close with Aurora follows her and asks her about what she just saw.
- Aurora believes she is unable to help and teach the young one (or anyone)
- Inspired by Aurora The Young One speaks to her: "impossible is nothing"
- Power then suddenly surges through Aurora's hands: they turn purple and they begin to sift through the dirt. She is overcome with curiosity and goes over to a rock to discover she can mine with her bare hands.
- It is in this moment she begins to educate the next generation. Her power to mine becomes just as important as her power to inspire/educate other people.
- More and more people come every day as the enlightenment grows.